SYRUP OF FIGS

NEVER IMITATED QUALITY.

THE EXCELLENCE OF SYRUP OF FIGS is due not only to the originality and simplicity of the combination, but also to the care and skill with which it is manufactured by scientific processes known to the California Fig Syrup Co. only, and was a wish to impress upon all the importance of purchasing the true and original remedy. As the genuine Syrup of Figs is manufactured by the California Fig Syrup Co. only, a knowledge of that fact will assist one in avoiding the worthless imitations manufactured by other parties. The high standing of the California Fig Syrup Co. with the medical profession, and the satisfaction which the genuine Syrup of Figs has given to millions of families, makes the name of the Company a guarantee of the excellence of its remedy. It is far in advance of all other laxatives, as it acts on the kidneys, liver and bowels without irritating or weakening them, and it does not gripe nor nauseate. In order to get its beneficial effects, please remember the name of the Company—

HOME RUINED.

A St. Louis Man's Experience with Mormons.

Got His Wife and Daughter—Elders of Saints' Church Visited His Home.

There is one man at least in St. Louis who wishes with all his heart that Brigham Roberts may be sent back by Congress to his multiplied family responsibilities in Utah. He also wishes that all the Mormons in the land were far beyond the northern seas or in some other inaccessible place.

He is Frank S. Lowe. Through the influence of Mormon elders he claims his family has been broken up and his wife and daughter spirited away to Utah. His resentment is the more keen because he took in the Mormons and fed and nourished them, and he says they turned and stung him by alienating his wife and daughter.

Mr. Lowe lives in a house owned by himself at 1412 Papin street. Sitting at his deserted hearth a few nights ago he told, without the concealment of a detail or an attempt to shield himself, the story of the disruption of his household.

"The first of last March," he said, "there was not a family in St. Louis happier than mine. My wife and I were members of the Compton Heights Christian church. My wife was a good Christian woman. She did what she thought was right in all things. She was given to research. Any new presentation of real or professed religion enlisted her interest.

"One day in March a young man came to the door. He said he was a minister. My wife asked him to what church he belonged. He said the Church of the Latter Day Saints. She did not understand. He said they were commonly called Mormons.

"She invited him in. He talked about his religion. She asked him about polygamy. He said it was no longer practiced.

"When I came home in the evening she said she was almost persuaded to believe in the Mormon religion. I told her if I caught another Mormon in the house I would throw him out. She said she had invited the elder back, and asked me for her sake to treat him civilly. I promised.

"Two days later he came again. He was Elder V. E. Candland. He talked plausibly. The next time he came he said the elders had to move from their quarters at Thirty first and Locust streets to cheaper quarters. The first floor front room of our house was empty. He asked if they might occupy it. I refused, my wife pleaded, and I consented.

"They moved in. Three of them moved in—Candland, Ballard and Christensen. This was on March 12 last. Later they were joined by Stookey.

"They held meetings in the rooms. My wife joined their church and gathered in congregations for them. She became so interested in the Mormons that she was in their room talking to them nearly all the time.

"When Stookey came they asked for two rooms on the second floor. I at first refused and finally gave in.

"On April 19 my wife was getting the rooms ready for their occupancy. She asked me to help her. I would not. She said she would get Brother Candland to help her. I told her not to.

"I went about my work. When I came I went up stairs. I met my wife and Candland coming out of the back room hand in hand.

"I said nothing, but went down stairs. My wife followed me. I asked her what that meant. She said they had been kneeling together, praying. "I forbade her having any conversation with any of the elders in the future. She promised she would not. Two days later I caught my wife and Candland talking earnestly on the stairs. When I came upon them Candland ran up stairs.

"I called my wife into a room and asked her why she had broken her promise. She said:

"I just couldn't help it."

"I went up stairs and told the elders to get out of my house and if they ever crossed the threshold again I would fill them with lead.

"They pleaded for a little time and I gave them two days. They then obtained rooms at 1340 Chouteau avenue.

"While the elders had been in the house my wife had been giving them provisions. I could not afford that. I locked the provisions up. My wife broke open the closet to get eatables to give them. She had also given my daughter's savings to them. As soon as they were gone my wife took sick with neuralgic headaches. I had to do the cooking for a week. One evening I was sitting in the room reading the Bible. She was lying down. She said: 'You don't care how much I suffer, Frank.'

"I said: 'I would do anything to relieve you. Tell me what I can do.'

"She said: 'Let the elders come and treat me.'

"I told her I would rather see her dead than that they should enter the house.

"I went and got some medicine which she had used before. When I got back she said she had sent out my daughter, Alice, for the elders. Stookey had come and she had sent him back for the others. I told Alice to go up and tell them if they came to my house they would never leave it. They did not come.

"I began to prepare the medicine. My wife declared she would not permit it to be applied. I threw it in the fire.

"On the night of May 18 I was sitting by the window reading the Bible. My wife was lying down. She called me to her and placed her arms around my neck.

"Would you mind if I should go away for a little while until I am stronger?" she said.

"I asked where she would go. She said to visit her sister and aunt at Rolla. I told her that they disappeared so strongly of her recent course that they would not welcome her and besides I could not afford to send her.

"She said: 'If I get the money will you let me go?'

"I said: 'Who could you get it from except from the preachers? No, I will not let you go.'

"Nothing more was said that night. The next morning I was working on the third floor. About 8 o'clock I came down. My wife was sitting up. My daughter was coming her hair.

"I said: 'How do you feel, Pete?'

"She said: 'I feel very bad.'

"I went up stairs again. I met my wife and Candland coming out of the back room hand in hand. The object of their proselyting seems to be solely to entice marriageable young women to Utah. They represent themselves as adherents to the anti-polygamous branch of the church of Latter Day Saints, but they are the Utah Mormons of the most radical type."

Hard Nap at Bryan. Little by little the meat of the recent Bryan banquet at Chicago is becoming known to the public. It was not a love feast, by any means. Ostensibly, the banquet was for the purpose of giving the Bryan boom more wind. The result is that the boom is badly punctured.

Right in the house of his friends, Mr. Bryan was informed that the issue in 1900 should be, not free silver, but anti-imperialism, and that the party could not go before the country on two issues.

It was late in the night when this startling announcement was made in a speech delivered by the mayor of Milwaukee. Bryan had howled for free silver; John J. Lentz had occupied an hour and a half in abusing President McKinley. When Milwaukee's chief executive was called, he took but five minutes' time, but he threw the bombshell into the free silver forces by declaring in substance that free silver is no longer an issue and could not be dragged into the campaign of 1900, and that anti-imperialism must be the party cry.

The sentiment was cheered by a large number present, while the free silver advocates sat silently in their chairs. Mayor Maybury, of Detroit, and Mayor Harrison, of Chicago, and others warmly congratulated the speaker, and soon after the hall became chilly and the banqueters dispersed.

Bryan and Bryanism received a setback, and the Nebraska orator will hereafter fight shy of banquets until all the speakers are pulled on the silver question.—Toledo Blade.

CASTORIA. The Kind You Have Always Bought. Bears the Signature of Charles H. Fletcher. A Strange Creature. Kokomo, Ind., Jan. 23.—Constable Elwood McCracken of North Elvins township brought to jail here yesterday a queer specimen of humanity, captured in a church at Popular Grove. The man who was practically nude when found, is partly covered with a thick, shaggy growth of grizzly hair from one to four inches in length and was at first thought to be some wild animal crouching and walking on all fours between the benches of the church. Though evidently past 80 years of age, he is a Hercules in physique, and is very nervous and uneasy. His presence in the church created a panic, and he fought like a demon on being captured. He can talk but little.

Louisa's Iron Nerve Was the result of his splendid health. Indomitable will and tremendous energy are not found where Stomach, Liver, Kidneys and Bowels are out of order. If you want these qualities and the success they bring, use Dr. King's New Life Pills. They develop every power of brain and body. Only 25c at J. H. Williams' drug store.

In the future employment of married women in the public schools of Chicago probably will be forbidden by the Board of Education, say members of that body, though Trustee Jesse Sherwood's resolutions to that effect has been allowed to slumber by the School Management Committee.

Social, economical, legal and domestic reasons are among those urged in favor of the resolution, while, on the other hand, the proposed rule is not without strong opponents. Specific cases are cited to prove the injustice or unwisdom of engaging married women teachers.

President Graham H. Harris, of the board, is a strong champion of the Sherwood resolution. "I don't believe we ought to encourage male parasites," said he. "There are lots of them in town living off of women teachers, and I don't see why we should add to the number. If we pass this rule, then the men who are looking around for a woman to support them will pick out some one besides a teacher. Then the teachers will be careful not to marry men who haven't the ability to support them."—Chicago telegram to the New York Times.

HER EYEBROWS.

A Boston Editor's Opinion of the Intended.

How a Man Can Choose a Wife Successfully by Examining Her Eyebrows.

It's all very well for a girl to plume herself upon her pretty eyebrows, said an expert physiognomist the other day, I who have been studying character for years, have perhaps a rather different point of view. Eyebrows show character, and the wise man will take note of them when choosing his friends. Eyebrows, for instance, that are wide apart denote grand, generous, unsuspicious and impulsive nature.

When they meet one may be pretty sure that their owner's temperament is ardent, but jealous and suspicious. Eyebrows which are elevated at starting and continue in long, sweeping lines over the eyes, with a downward tendency, indicate artistic feeling.

Straight eyebrows, forming a firmly defined line close to the eyes, denote great determination and will power. Those which begin rather strongly and terminate abruptly without passing beyond the eyes show an impatient and irascible nature.

Sensitiveness and tenderness are indicated by slightly arched eyebrows, and firmness of purpose and kindness of heart by those which are straight at the beginning and are rather arched at the temples. The eyebrows of people utterly devoid of mathematical power are raised at the termination, leaving a wide space between them and the corner of the eyes. On the other hand, if they are close to the eyes at the end, mathematical talent may generally be safely assumed.

Eyebrows of the same color as the hair show constancy, firmness and resolution; if lighter than the hair they denote indecision and weakness; while if darker we may probably be right in our surmise that their owner is of an ardent, passionate and inconsistent disposition.

An energetic and easily irritated nature is shown by the hair growing in different directions; while short, close-lying hair, growing in one direction, indicates a firm mind and good perceptions. An ardent, but tender nature is shown by the hair being soft and fine.

When the hair of the eyebrows has a downward drop so that it almost meets the lashes when the eyes are widely opened, tenderness and melancholy are betrayed. The nearer the eyebrows are to the eyes, the firmer and the more remote the more volatile and flighty is the nature of the owner.—Boston Globe.

"That settles it, I suppose I can't get the furlough, then," said Patrick. "No; I'm afraid not, Patrick. It wouldn't be well for me to do so under the circumstances."

It was Patrick's time now to eye the Colonel as he started for the door. Stopping suddenly he said:

"Colonel, can I say something to ye?"

"Certainly, Patrick; what is it?"

"You won't get mad, Colonel, if I say it?"

"Certainly not, Patrick, what is it?"

Parsnip Complexion. It does not require an expert to detect the sufferer from kidney trouble. The hollow cheeks, the sunken eyes, the dark, puffy circles under the eyes, the sallow parsnip colored complexion indicates it.

A physician would ask if you had rheumatism, a dull pain or ache in the back or over the hips, stomach trouble, desire to urinate often, or a burning or scalding in passing it; if after passing there is an unsatisfied feeling as if it must be at once repeated, or if the urine has a brick dust deposit or strong color.

When these symptoms are present, no time should be lost in removing the cause.

Delay may lead to gravel, catarrh of the bladder, inflammation, causing stoppage, and sometimes requiring the drawing of the urine with instruments, or may run into Bright's Disease, the most dangerous stage of kidney trouble.

Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, the great discovery of the eminent kidney and bladder specialist, is a positive remedy for such diseases. Its reputation is world-wide and it is so easy to get at any drug store that no one need suffer any length of time for want of it.

However, if you prefer to first test its wonderful merits, mention THE HARTFORD REPUBLICAN and write to Dr. Kilmer & Co., Binghamton, N. Y. for a sample bottle and book telling all about it, both sent absolutely free by mail.

For Mothers! THE discomforts and dangers of child-birth can be almost entirely avoided. Wine of Cardui relieves expectant mothers. It gives tone to the genital organs, and puts them in condition to do their work perfectly. That makes pregnancy less painful, shortens labor and hastens recovery after child-birth. It helps a woman bear strong healthy children.

McLURE'S Wine of Cardui has also brought happiness to thousands of homes barren for years. A few doses often brings joy to loving hearts that long for a darling baby. No woman should neglect to try it for this trouble. It cures nine cases out of ten. All druggists sell Wine of Cardui. $1.00 per bottle.

For advice in cases requiring special directions, address, giving symptoms, the "Ladies' Advisory Department," The Chattanooga Medicine Co., Chattanooga, Tenn.

Mrs. LOUISA HALE, of Jefferson, Ga., says: "When I first took Wine of Cardui we had been married three years, but could not have any children. Nine months later I had a fine girl baby."

Catarrh Leads to Consumption.

A Forerunner of the Most Fatal Disease.

Though its offensive features are sometimes almost unbearable, few people are aware of the danger of which Catarrh is the forerunner. Catarrh invariably leads to Consumption. Growing worse and worse each winter, those who rely upon the usual treatment of sprays, washes and each winter the disease seemed to have a firmer hold on me. I had finally been declared incurable when I decided to try S. S. S. It seemed to get right at the seat of the disease, and cured me permanently. For I have had no touch of Catarrh for seven years.

"Mrs. JOSEPHINE POHLE, of Due West, S. C."

Those who have had the first touch of Catarrh will save endless suffering by taking the right remedy at the outset. Others who have for years sought relief and found only disappointment in local treatment will find it wise to waste no further time on sprays, washes, including mixtures, etc., which are only temporary and can not save them from Consumption. Catarrh is a deep-seated blood disease. S. S. S. is the only remedy which can reach the very bottom of the disease and cure it permanently.

FRIDAY, JANUARY 27.

FOR REPRESENTATIVE.

We are authorized to announce Hon.
R. C. Jarnagin, of Beaver Dam, as a candidate for the nomination for Representative, subject to the action of the Republican party.

GENERAL says that the election of 1896 "settled nothing." William J.
Bryan doesn't look at it that way.

SENATOR QUAY is having some trouble in shaking the "Senatorial plum" from the Pennsylvania assembly.

A CORRUPT man can say the vilest and merest thing of another to cover up his own crimes and corruption.
Bill Goebel for example.

AN UNLAWFUL should go slow and refrain from large a phum as possible. When he pinches Uncle Sam he will find to his sorrow that he is not fooling with Spain.

SENATOR GOEBEL'S Lebanon speech did not make the desired impression being spiced with hard-times song.
Talk against prosperity does not go nowadays.

THERE seems to be a suicidal epidemic raging Louisville. From January 17 to 21, inclusive, six successful and four unsuccessful attempts at self-destruction were reported.

WITH an unanimous press to fight and the burden of the most intemperate law ever enacted in Kentucky upon his shoulder, Bill Goebel must wade through bloody seas to the throne.

If Billy Bryan or Bill Goebel were on guard at the pearly gate of the celestial Eden, editor Richard W. Knott, of the Louisville Post, would have to camp without the city till Thomas Jefferson could bring a ladder from his garret and fling it over the wall.

BILL GOEBEL opened his campaign at Lebanon like the silverites opened the campaign of 1896, by boasting that the leading newspapers were against him, and like result may be expected. The press has become too great a power for any man or political party to defy.

THE popular belief in this country that Germany is giving substantial aid to the Philippine insurgents, is exciting a bitter feeling among the American press, and a newspaper war of unusual intensity is being waged by the journalists of the two countries against each other. Let us hope the German-American war may be fought to a finish on paper.

It is reported that Mount Vesuvius is in a state of violent eruption. For some time the mountain has been spitting spasmodically, but recently all the old craters broke out with tremendous bursts of flame and molten lava. Reports from Naples say that the sight at night is a wonderful and terrifying spectacle. Great masses of molten matter and towers of flames are ejected more than 600 feet in the air.

PROBABLY the greatest misfortune of the Democratic party has been its failure to develop statesmen worthy the honor and confidence of their party.
Only three men, in as many decades, have been decently recognized by that party—Tilden, Cleveland and Bryan. This state of affairs may be accounted for by the fact that Democratic fealty is measured by devotion to the hero of the hour no less than to the latest platform of the party.
No Democrat now dares to announce himself a candidate for office without declaring himself in favor of Bryan and the Chicago platform, always naming Bryan first. A party that dares not live by its platform, di-vored from individual leaders, will be slow in developing statesmen and slow still in winning the confidence of the American people.

UNDER a secret ballot election system the officers who conduct the election can, if corrupt, make the result of an election whatever they choose, without reference to how the voters voted. These officers count the votes, destroy the ballots, certify the result, and neither the voter nor any one else is permitted to testify how any vote was cast—Extract from Goebel's Lebanon speech.

The Keaton boss incautiously states the conditions which make the infamous election law that bears his name the most dangerous law that ever menaced a free people. Under the Goebel law the State election commissioners are all or a majority Democratic and, notwithstanding the political division of election officers, may appoint incapable, irresponsible or corrupt Republican election officers, as suggested by T. Aubrey's letter to Thompson, and complete the steal contemplated by the Goebel law.

Having been the author of a law that makes the appointment of corrupt election officers possible, and then pointing out the easy manner in which such corrupt officers can be turned to account one is led to believe the Keaton statesman is presenting his scheme to steal the State as a virtue to be rewarded by his party by giving him the nomination for Governor.

A POPULIST'S VIEWS.

A reporter for THE REPUBLICAN approached Mr. J. J. Bracken, chairman of the People's Party Executive Committee, for his views on the future of his party. When asked what had caused the depletion of Populist representation in the National House of Representatives, Mr. Bracken replied, unhesitatingly:
"Fusion."

"The Populist party was at one time," said Mr. Bracken, "in a fair way to get control of the national government. The Populist party came upon the scene fighting trusts and monopolies and advocating the free coinage of silver at a time when the Democratic party was going to pieces, and but for the politicians who got into its ranks and advocated fusion to get themselves into office, would have absorbed the Democratic party and a great part of the Republican party and would now be in control of the national government."

"What will be the future of the Populist party, Mr. Bracken?" the reporter asked.

"I don't know, but if the Populist party dies, I'm going to take a seat by myself."

Mr. Bracken has been a leader in the Populist party since its organization and his comments on the results of fusion are worthy the sober consideration of our readers.

OUR POSITION TOWARD THE PHILIPPINES.

Much has been said about the administration's Philippine policy, pro and con, and still a great deal remains to be said. The United States' position relative to the Philippines is rather a peculiar one and came about under peculiar circumstances and not as a matter of choice. It was destiny.
The American-Spanish war was fought for the sake of humanity, and in it, the administration was supported by an unanimous public opinion.
Great as were the responsibilities of the army and navy, the responsibilities resting upon the government as a result or consequence of victory are yet greater.

With Spain's army defeated in the field and her navy swept from the sea it might seem that our greatest burden is of the past, but not so. To establish a government for a people that has never enjoyed the privilege of self-government, even in a limited form, is now the grave responsibility and imperative duty of the United States. When the war broke out the fleet in the far east, under Admiral Dewey, was compelled to seek an asylum, and that place of refuge was Manila. His entrance into Manila bay and destruction of the Spanish fleet was a master stroke of strategy, and was applauded by an unanimous press and people. With that great event came the responsibility, moral and political, to protect the lives and possessions of the people of that country. Never has there been a moment since the firing of the first gun from Dewey's fleet to the present when the United States could with credit and honor to herself quit the islands.
When the Spanish government in the islands was destroyed the United States became responsible for the government therein, and the nations of earth so regard it.

A government must be established there. Every obligation of expediency and of duty demands that the United States establish that government. It is absurd to argue that the Philippines are competent to govern themselves, not being experienced in self-government. Governments are not born in a day, but are the outgrowth of centuries of experience.

The great question now to be settled is the establishment of a government.
Then the disposition of the islands may be made as our interests in the future and theirs may dictate. Besides the obligation resting upon us as a nation having destroyed the only government, to establish another, there is a moral obligation that we should consider.

Morally a man has not the right to isolate himself from society and live a hermit, much less has a nation. We are bound by every consideration of right to scatter the blessings of liberty and spread the influence of religion.
Fifty years ago Japan was living to herself alone. Her ports were closed to the commerce of the world. Surrounded by the sea, she had closed herself up like an oyster in its shell.
But the United States by treaty opened up that country to the commerce of the civilized world and as a result to-day Japan is the leading nation of the east.

The moral and political influence of the United States is sufficient in time to transform a semi-savage people to civilization. May we not hope that the influence of American institutions may reach that eastern land and change chaotic darkness to civil liberty and religious freedom.

Gentlemen:—In response to your calls requesting me to make the race for Representative, I must say, that after considering the question well from both a personal and a political standpoint, I have decided that it will be best, both for myself and our party, for me not to make the race.
Therefore, I beg the privilege of refusing to allow my name to go before the convention. Thanking each and every one that has said an encouraging word for me, I am,

WILSON
On Trial At London On Charge of Murder.
The Courthouse Crowded—Evidence for the State
so far as Taken.

London, Ky., Jan. 24.—The examining trial of H. K. Wilson, charged with the murder of Miss Mary Cloyd, began this afternoon at 1 o'clock.
The courthouse was packed full of people from all parts of the county anxious to hear the trial. Wilson appeared with his counsel, apparently trying to look calm and collected, but puffing incessantly at his cigar.
His counsel consists of R. L. Ewell, D. K. Rawlings and A. L. Reed. The Commonwealth is represented by Attorney James Sparks, Hon. Ed. Parker, H. C. Hazlewood, C. R. Brock, P.
F. Stillings and J. Walker Moren.

After rigid restrictions in regard to order had been placed over the courtroom by Judge Stanberry, the trial was opened.
The first witness introduced was Mrs.
C. J. McLearn, landlady of the Catchings Hotel. In substance, her testimony was that Mary Cloyd had been employed by her for more than two years, and that she believed her to have been strictly virtuous until Wilson's relations began with her, coming up to the time of Miss Cloyd's illness, in the last week of December.
She stated that Miss Cloyd was ill two or three days before the cause was known. Dr. Pennington was called in to see the girl and wanted to make an examination, but she refused.
At last she consented, and an examination was made by Drs. Ramsey and Pennington. The girl then made a statement to the doctors and Mrs.
McLearn, as follows:

Over two years ago Wilson began his attentions to her. For about a year he tried to seduce her, and at last succeeded under a promise of marriage. Afterward their illicit relations were kept up, Wilson continuing to make his promises. About December 22 he induced her to allow him to perform a criminal operation.
He had previously given her some medicine, which she took. She was compelled to stay in bed from that time. When the doctors wished to examine her she would not consent until she wrote to Wilson, asking him whether she should allow it. He replied in the negative. The note from Wilson was produced in court.

The next witness was Miss Sarah Wyatt, another girl employed in the hotel. She testified to finding the note in Miss Cloyd's bed; also to finding the box of medicine in Miss Cloyd's trunk, which the girl said Wilson gave her.

C. J. McLearn testified: "When I learned Miss Cloyd's condition and the cause I went to Wilson's office and told him about it, and he ac-knowledgeed that he had seduced her and that he would do whatever the girl said. Wilson then went to Miss Cloyd's room. He made a few commonplace remarks to the girl, and then said: 'Mary, I did not cause this; you used those instruments yourself, didn't you?' She replied:
'No, Mr. Wilson; you know that you did.' Whereupon Wilson broke down and said: 'Yes, I did,' and acknowledged to all the girl had accused him of in her statement."

Mr. McLearn appealed to Wilson to marry her, and he replied that he would shoot his heart out before he would marry a girl in that condition.
Mr. McLearn talked to him of the enormity of his crime, giving Wilson a sound rating. Wilson finally said that he would marry her as soon as she was able to stand. He then left, and was seen no more until he was arrested and brought back.

The testimony for the day was then closed. The trial will be resumed tomorrow at 8 a. m. There are six or seven witnesses yet for the Commonwealth.

Wilson's father, from Williamstown, and several of his friends are here making a hard fight. James C.
Cloyd, a brother of the dead girl and a member of the Louisville Legion, is pushing the prosecution.

Deafness Cannot be Cured by Local Applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear.
There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube gets inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever; nine cases out of ten are caused by catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces.

Ayer's Hair Vigor

What does it do?
It causes the oil glands in the skin to become more active, making the hair soft and glossy, precisely as nature intended.
It cleanses the scalp from dandruff and thus removes one of the great causes of baldness.
It makes a better circulation in the scalp and stops the hair from coming out.

It Prevents and It Cures Baldness

Ayer's Hair Vigor will surely make hair grow on bald heads, provided only there is any life remaining in the hair bulbs.
It restores color to gray or white hair. It does not do this in a moment, as will a hair dye; but in a short time the gray color of age gradually disappears and the darker color of youth takes its place.
Would you like a copy of our book on the Hair and Scalp? It is free.
If you do not obtain all the benefits you expect from the use of the Vigor write the Doctor about it.

Notice to Overseers of Roads.

Section 4311 of the Kentucky Statutes provides that the duties of the overseers shall be as follows:
"In counties wherein the roads are worked by hands allotted as hereinbe-fore provided, the overseers shall have charge of the roads and bridges in their respective precincts, construct bridges and work the roads, shall summons the hands to work the roads in their precincts; superintend and direct said work and keep the road and bridges thereon free of obstructions and in good condition for travel; and shall report to the nearest Justice of the Peace or to the County Judge any failure or refusal of any of the hands on his road to appear and do good work in obedience to his summons, and the number and length of time of such failure."

Section 4310 provides that overseers
"For failure to perform the duties herein required of them shall, for each offense, be fined from five to fifteen dollars. The fines imposed under this section to be recovered on warrants issued by and tried before the Judge of the Quarterly Court."

Section 4347 provides that "It shall be the duty of the County Attorney to make diligent inquiry as to any violation of this law, and cause such proceedings to be instituted as are provided herein when such violation is ascertained."

Complaints are coming to me from all parts of the county in regard to the bad condition of the roads and the failure of the overseers to work or keep the roads in condition for travel, I therefore desire to call the attention of the overseers of Ohio county to these plain provisions of the law and give them an opportunity to work the roads and make them free of obstructions and in good condition for travel before any prosecutions are instituted.
Every road in the county should be worked and put in good condition for travel on or before the first day of May, 1899.

Yours very respectfully,

Mr. R. C. Sutphin, our Jeweler and Optician, who has been in Cincinnati studying music, has returned and is now prepared to repair your Watches, Clocks, Jewelry, etc. He will be glad to see his friends and former customers. Mr. Sutphin is a good jeweler and will do well the work entrusted to him. The people are glad to see him here again and hope that he will remain and build up an excellent trade.

Supt. Rogers received a letter this week from Ohio county boys in the A. & M. College at Lexington. They report an excellent school and very large attendance. They are delighted with the work done by the State University and commend it to other worthy young men. We now have three students there, Coffee Taylor, Roscoe T. Whittinghill and J. C. Lawrence. We hope that next year Ohio county will have a full representation.

Mr. Thurman Westerfield has sold his meat shop to Messrs W. A. Miller and Frank Westerfield, who will continue the trade at the place vacated by Mr. Westerfield. Mr. Westerfield has done a good business in the meat trade and his customers will regret his quitting. The new firm have a splendid opening for success and their sociability and straight business methods insure it. Mr. Westerfield will enter the ice trade when summer opens.

In another column of the REPUBLICAN will be found the announcement of the Green River Academy and Business Institute, conducted by Prof. R. L. Barnes and P. H. Ross. These energetic young men have undertaken to build up a first-class school at Rockport and we earnestly hope that they will succeed. The people of that vicinity should give them all the encouragement possible in their meritorious undertaking. A good school in any community is an attractive feature and the greatest blessing of which it can boast.

The teachers of the county will be glad to learn that the next meeting of the Fourth Congressional District Teachers' Association will be held at Beaver Dam, Ky., some time in the month of June. We shall be greatly pleased to have the leading educators of the district to meet with us, and confidently hope that all of our teachers will take advantage of this rare treat. Teachers, with a determination that becomes the profession, let us strive to make this the most interesting session yet held in the Fourth Congressional District. Talk it up, work it up, but first begin at home.

College Notes.

Monday morning the school opened with the following new students added to our list of matriculates: Ernest Woodward, Eugenia Howard, Pearl Holbrook, Verda Holbrook, Louisa Ford, E. J. Leach, Rufus Ross, Maggie Davidson.

Monday morning we were pleased to notice Mr. W. H. Barnes and A. C. Taylor as visitors at General Exercises.

The Adelphi Society was reorganized last Friday evening. The old constitution was adopted with amendments, and new officers elected with Randolph Wedding as President, and a program adopted for the next meeting. The members exhibited unusual interest so we may look for some lively times among the Adelphians during the next five months.

A. S. Bennett attended General Exercises Wednesday morning.

The Hypatians reorganized with Miss Laura Morton for President. After the usual amount of argument necessary for feminine assemblies to come to an agreement a program was finally adopted. Look out for the Hypatians.

New Coal Company.

F. O. Coffman, W. F. Coffman, Wm. Osler, W. S. Trunpels and H. M. English filed articles of incorporation of the Jamestown Coal Co., with the County Clerk Wednesday. The capital stock is $3,000.

The Jamestown Coal Mines are located on Green River between Point Pleasant and Livermore in one of the finest coal fields in Western Kentucky. It is convenient to the river and coal can be run down in barges to Evansville and intervening points with little cost. The operation of the coal mines promises an impetus to an already thriving and prosperous community. Although the capital stock is small the company will do a good business. The personal energy of the members composing the company insure success to the enterprise.

NOTICE.

I have sold my meat shop to Messrs. W. A. Miller and Frank Westerfield, and now in retiring from the business desire to thank my friends and the public for their liberal patronage. My business connection with the people of Hartford has been pleasant indeed, and I trust that if I again enter business here in any other line, I may have the same liberal patronage enjoyed heretofore.

All persons indebted to me will please call and settle, as I wish to settle up my old business as soon as possible. Very Respectfully, G. T. WESTERFIELD.

Book Titles.

One may honestly congratulate modern authors of all sorts upon the brevity, at least, of their titles. In these enlightened times no one would be guilty of a "First Blast of the Trumpet Against the Monstrous Regiment of Women." Worse still is "Discovery of a Gaping Gulf Wherein England is Like to Be Swallowed by Another French Marriage," for which Stubbs, the author, was deprived of his right hand in the presence of a "deeply silent multitude." And, although it is well to avoid extremes, one finds monosyllabic titles preferable to those just mentioned. Let such as avail themselves of "Quite," "Mothe," "Dawn," "She," "Weeds," "Joss," "Jet," "Dreams," or even "Alas," refrain, lest a worse thing happen unto them.—F. Foster in Lippincott's.

RANNEY-RYAN FIGHT.

Ohio county people who read the newspaper accounts of the knock out of the noted pugilist, "Australian" Tommy Ryan, at the Noble street theater at Anniston, Alabama, Saturday night by O. A. Ranney will probably be surprised to learn that Ranney is not an Irishman as reported by the papers, but very much a Kentuckian and a native of Ohio county, having been born and reared in Ohio county, near Cromwell. He is the son of S. P. Ranney, a well known and much respected citizen of the Cromwell neighborhood.

Young Ranney is an amateur in the ring, but his knock-out in the first round of the renowned "Australian" pugilist gives him at once a place in the pugilistic world.

GRIM GRIP'S DEADLY MARCH

Deals Death and Destruction to Many.

Boston, New York, Philadelphia, Washington, Louisville, St. Louis, Chicago, St. Paul, Minneapolis, Omaha, Kansas City, St. Joseph, Mo., and all the Great Centers of Population Affected.

The depressing effects of the present epidemic of Grip are apparent everywhere. Teachers, clerks, business men, mechanics, laborers, street car drivers, school children, police officers and even the doctors all furnish victims by the hundreds.

No remedy yet discovered can show results equal to Dr. Miles' Restorative Nervine. It quickly overcomes the excessive exhaustion, invigorates the appetite and assists nature to throw off the deadly microbes from the system. In times of epidemic like the present it should be taken as a preventive of disease.

"Grip has left me a physical wreck; weak, helpless and miserable. I could not eat; could not sleep; could not gain any strength, and had nervous prostration at the worst kind. Our home physician could not help me and I commenced using Dr. Miles' Nervine. The first night's sleep that I had had in four months came as the result of two first doses. When I had taken two bottles I felt better than I had before in years, and continued to improve until I was entirely cured."

ELIZABETH WOODWARD, Plymouth, Ills.

All druggists are authorized to sell Dr. Miles' Nervine on a guarantee that first bottle benefits or money refunded. Be sure and get Dr. Miles' Nervine. Booklet on heart and nerves sent free. Address Dr. Miles Medical Co., Elkhart, Ind.

The Remedy That Makes

People Well--Paine's

Celery Compound.

In every civilized country rich and poor alike have found restored health and new vigor in Paine's celery compound.

"Hard-working people of ordinary means are to be congratulated," says an English writer in reviewing the scientific work of the last quarter of a century, "upon having so easily within their reach to day a remedy which the wealthiest and most influential persons must themselves use, if they would get the best that modern medical skill offers. Paine's celery compound proves that the science of medicine has kept pace with the wonderful progress which characterizes the life of the present generation."

The astonishing reputation that this most wonderful of all remedies has acquired is principally due to the word of month recommendation and endorsement of men and women of the highest business and social standing, as well as of those in humbler but no less important positions who have themselves discovered its merits.

Adeline, Countess Schimmelmarm, whose portrait is here given, in a recent letter to the Wells & Richardson Company speaks of friends of hers who have been benefited by Paine's celery compound, and who first advised her to recommend it to her sick friends.

The countess, as is well known, is a prominent member of the Danish court. Her coming to this country has been much talked of. Her real object was one of charity, for she is using her great wealth and influence this winter in assisting the Danish people in the western states. She is stopping in Chicago, and from there writes her straightforward endorsement of Paine's celery compound.

Women who are easily excited, who waste energy worrying over trifles, who are often sufferers from sick headache and nervousness, should read the plain, unbiased statements of what Paine's celery compound has done for other women.

Among the diseases that cause a vast amount of needless suffering that may be readily cured by Paine's celery compound are biliousness, torpid liver, headaches, sleeplessness, dizziness, constipation, dyspepsia and general nervousness and debility.

No man or woman who is continually ailing can successfully carry on business, or be of much real comfort to the household.

And only a thoroughly nourished body that has all the used up, and therefore harmful, material promptly removed from the blood and tissues can be healthy. When either of these vital conditions of adequate repair or elimination are incompletely done, the organs need just such help as Paine's celery compound is fitted to give. No other remedy is so valuable.

Where other remedies have failed, Paine's celery compound will succeed.

A Fleishy Consumptive

Did you ever see one? Did you ever hear of one? Most certainly not. Consumption is a disease that invariably causes loss of flesh.

If you are light in weight, even if your cough is only a slight one, you should certainly take

Scott's Emulsion

of cod liver oil with hypophosphites. No remedy is such a perfect preventive to consumption. Just the moment your throat begins to weaken and you find you are losing flesh, you should begin to take it. And no other remedy has cured so many cases of consumption. Unless you are far advanced with this disease, Scott's Emulsion will hold every inducement to you for a perfect cure.
